

my mom when's daddy coming home, you know. Who needs him? He wasn't there to teach me how to shoot my first basket but I learned, didn't I? Hey, I got pretty damn good at it too, Uncle Phil.

Uncle Phil: Yeah, you did.

Will: Got through my first day without him.

Right? I learned how to drive. I learned how to shave, how to fight without him. I had 14 great birthdays without him! He never even sent me a damn card. TO HELL WITH HIM!

Will starts to cry but tries to muffle it.

Will: I didn't need him then, I don't need him now.

Uncle Phil: Will-

Will: You know what, Uncle Phil? Imma get through college without him. I'm gonna get a great job without him. Imma marry me a beautiful honey and I'm having a whole bunch of kids and I'll be a better father than he ever was and I sure as hell don't need him for that cause ain't a damn thing he could ever teach me about how to love my kids!

Will: How come he don't want me, man?

Will starts to cry.
